Growing Old

Ought not to mean growing weak and feeble. It does not mean weakness or feebleness for those who eat with good appetite and sound digestion. It is of the utmost importance that old people should retain the power to digest and assimilate food which is the sole source of physical strength. When age brings feebleness it is generally because of the failure to assimilate the nutrition contained in food.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food. It invigorates the liver and promotes general physical well being.

It is with gratitude we acknowledge what Dr. Pierce's medicine has done for grandmothers' good. In fact it has cured her, writes Miss Carrie Kauter, of Perryburg, Ohio. "She had doctored with several physicians but found no relief until Dr. Pierce advised her what to do. She has taken only three bottles of Golden Medical Discovery and is entirely well. She suffered with pain in kidneys, bladder and liver for ten years, and her blood was so thickened with dropsy so bad she could hardly walk. My grand-mother's name is Mrs. Caroline Heman, her age is 71 years. I will gladly answer all letters of inquiry."

Sick people are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and is held as strictly confidential.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels.

AFTER BISHOP POTTER AGAIN.

Rev. R. C. Fillingham, the "fighting vicar" of Hexton, England, who is now in New York, on Tuesday night dictated a letter to Bishop Potter in which he declared that the Bishop and "the blasphemous idolaters" whom the Bishop "protects" are afraid of the writer. He asks Bishop Potter whether he is a Christian, and whether he can continue to betray his conscience and his church. The letter follows:

Sir:—In accordance with the statement I made in the summer, I have returned to the United States to carry on my campaign against treason and disloyalty in that church over which you preside in the diocese. I have thought it right to notify you of this fact. I do not expect the courtesy of a reply, and if I received a reply, judging from previous experience, I should not expect it to be a courteous one. You gave away your case last summer by sending me an abusive and ungentlemanly letter; for abuse is generally the sign of a weak cause. You and the blasphemous idolaters whom you protect are afraid of what I may do, in New York. I may or may not make a public protest. I may be counselled by my friends that argument will have more weight with the American people than forcible outcry. In any case, my presence here last summer and my return this winter illustrate the old Scriptural saying, "the wicked flee when none pursueth." I write this letter to make an appeal—almost a despairing appeal, for I can scarcely expect it to succeed—to your conscience and your sense of duty. When you were consecrated to your sacred office you were asked if you were ready "with all faithful diligence to banish and drive away from the church all erroneous and strange doctrine, contrary to God's word, and both privately and openly to call upon and encourage others to do the same." In the presence of God and the congregation invoking the name of your Maker, you replied: "I will do so, the Lord being my helper." Sir, this was a solemn, a terrible promise. You know that in the thirty-first article our common church declared masses to be "blasphemous, public and dangerous deeds." They are celebrated openly in many churches in your diocese—actually in the church of St. Mary the Virgin and St. Ignatius in this city. And you said to me, in spite of the solemn promise you made, in the name of God, that these proceedings have your sanction. Sir, are you a man? Are you a Christian? Can you go on betraying your conscience and betraying your church? You may call me a meddlesome interloper. You may say that the Church of England, whose minister I am, has nothing to do with the Protestant Episcopal Church in America. You may defy history and ethnology and say there is no unity between the two branches of the Anglo-Saxon race. Be it so. If you wish to sever the love that exists between England and America I will not press the point. I will only appeal to you as a man. Can you, as a man, go on defying the eternal laws of conscience? Can I not move you to do your duty; to put down this cancer worm of priestcraft, which is eating out the heart of our Anglo-Saxon nationality? I make this appeal in God's name. May God judge between us.

Mr. Fillingham in an interview said: "I have come to begin my fight against idolatry in the Protestant Church and to protest against the consecrated water and the other stolen rituals used by some of the so-called Christian churches in this country."

Revolt of Albanians.

A dispatch from Saloniki says that Shemsi Pasha, with 2,500 Turkish troops and three guns, is reported to be besieged by 20,000 Albanians at Babajosi, between Diakova and Ipek. The Turks are said to be without food and water, and to have already lost 100 men. Strong reinforcements under Shakh Pasha are hurrying to the relief of Shemsi Pasha.

Advices from Constantinople are to the effect that sixteen thousand Albanians are in revolt in the district of Diakova against the reform plans of the power for Macedonia and obnoxious taxes. In conflicts which have taken place between Albanians and Ottoman troops the latter were worsted. Large reinforcements have been dispatched to Diakova. The Albanians attacked the town of Diakova February 13 and plundered and burned a number of houses. Turkish forces subsequently attacked the insurgents' main position at Babajosi, but were repulsed with heavy loss.

Feverish activity continues among the Turkish authorities on the Bulgarian frontier, in accumulating stores and repairing roads for the expected massing of troops.

A dispatch received from Sofia says that Russia has officially notified the Bulgarian government that any encouragement given by Bulgaria for the renewal of the insurrection in Macedonia will be regarded as an act of hostility, which will be promptly and forcibly repressed.

Avoid Substitutes!

An honest dealer will sell an honest remedy when it is called for by a customer. He will use honest drugs in filling prescriptions, and can be safely trusted as a family doctor.

A dishonest dealer, who tries to sell a customer a cheap substitute of his own when a standard remedy is asked for, will not hesitate to use impure and injurious drugs.

We caution our patrons to guard against cheap, so-called cough medicine that is offered at a low price by dealers. Insist on getting the OLD RELIABLE which has been the standard for over fifty years. It has cured thousands of cases of coughs, colds, grip, asthma and influenza.

Be sure you get the genuine, which has a Bull's head on the package. Sold by all reliable druggists at 25c a bottle. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has been used for fifty years and has cured thousands of people. It is a blessing to humanity. SMALL DOSE. PLEASANT TO TAKE.

committee have decided not to precipitate a Macedonian revolt before April 15, while awaiting the outcome of the reform scheme.

Woman Killed Visitor.

Mrs. J. C. McDay, wife of a guard at the McDowell county W. Va. jail Tuesday night, discharged a double-barreled shotgun into the body of a man who was trying to force his way into her home. While the murdered man's name could not be learned last night the matter having been kept quiet, it is known that he was a well-to-do farmer of the neighborhood. He was returning from a trip from Welch to his home, a short distance beyond the McDay residence. When he reached the latter place he asked permission to enter and get warm, which he did. He was intoxicated, and as Mrs. McDay was alone, his conduct became ungentlemanly, and she asked him to leave which he finally did under protest. He quickly returned, however, and sought admittance, but was refused. He then made threats of a serious nature and tried to force an entrance, resulting in his death. The woman has not been arrested.

When you feel blue and that everything goes wrong, take a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They will cleanse and invigorate your stomach, regulate your bowels, give you a relish for your food and make you feel that in this world is a good place to live. —For sale by Richard Gibson.
